London Hears New Purge of Top-Ranking Nazi Generals Has Been Launched by Hitler

BY ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's armies were reported to have widened their counter assault in the 36-day-old siege of Stalingrad today, hammering the German north flank on a 40-mile front between the Don and Volga rivers, while Nazi tanks pressed a new threat within the embattled metropolis.

With winter fast approaching and the German summer offensive apparently stalled on all fronts, London heard that Adolf Hitler had launched a new purge of top-ranking Nazi generals, ousting Field Marshal Fedor von Bock from the Stalingrad command and replacing Field Marshal Wilhelm Ritter von Leeb at Leningrad.

Triple Wreck Being Probed

Baltimore, Sept. 29.—(P)—The weather at the time of the triple train wreck near Dickerson, Md., last Thursday was "very foggy" with visibility of about 200 feet, Baltimore and Ohio engineers testified today at the opening of an investigation into causes of the crash.

Eighteen persons are believed to have perished in the wreck involving two crack passenger trains and a freight. The Ambassador, passenger express between Detroit and Washington, plowed into the rear of the Cleveland night express to Washington, throwing the rear pullman car into a freight train headed west.

Charles H. Greenwell, freight train engineer, said he passed the two trains about 35 to 40 miles an hour, and they were "so close together I thought they were coupled."

LONDON BRANDS NAZI CLAIM AS "UNTRUE"

London, Sept. 29.—(P)—The ministry of information declared today that the German claim to have sunk American troop transports in the Atlantic is "quite untrue."

"It may now be stated that the enemy claim to have sunk troop transports in the Atlantic is quite untrue," the announcement said.

The Germans said yesterday that three large Allied transports had been sunk by German submarines in an attack on a convoy moving from the United States to England.

U. S. Prisoners in Jap Camp Doing Well, Letters State

Washington, Sept. 29.—(P)—Two letters from American prisoners in Japan, one of whom describes conditions at the Zentsu war prisoners camp as "pretty good," have arrived here.

The letters, first of their kind to come to the attention of the American Red Cross, bore the names of Lieut. Cmdr. H. T. Johnson, son of the late Rep. Royal C. Johnson of South Dakota, and Eugene "Buck" Windham, 19, of Reeds Springs, Mo.

Commander Johnson wrote his wife, and his mother that he and his fellow prisoners had complete freedom in a large compound.

Senators Are Urged To Act On Measure

Democratic Leader Barkley Defends President's Call For Decision

APPEALS FOR HARMONY

Washington, Sept. 29.—(P)—Denying that President Roosevelt's call for anti-inflation legislation by October 1 was "a pistol at the head of congress," Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) urged immediate action in the senate today "to justify the legislative system."

Barkley declared that Mr. Roosevelt set the deadline because "he could not, beyond the first day of October, control prices and keep the spiral of inflation" from rising unless he or congress took action.

Action has been delayed by a controversy over whether the cost of farm labor should be made a factor in determining the parity price of farm products. The bill already has so provided, over the administration's objections.

PRISON TERMS GIVEN TRIO OF OBJECTORS

Eric, Sept. 29.—(P)—Prison terms of three years, instead of the usual terms in special camps, were meted out here to three men who pleaded guilty to disobeying the selective service act because of conscientious objections to war service.

Judge F. P. Schoonmaker pronounced the sentences on Glenn E. Hartlieb, 30, of Erie, Clyde Owen, 24, of Erie, and Joseph D. Alter, of New Wilmington, Pa.

Hartlieb told the court he would "anguish and die if you send me to prison," and Owen declared he believed Mrs. Jeannette Rankin, congresswoman from Butte, Mont. was right when she declared "we should not send our boys overseas."

Oil Rationing Plan Worked Out By O. P. A.

Washington, Sept. 29.—(P)—Householders depending on fuel oil for heating had assurance of the Office of Public Administration today that the gallonage value of their ration units would be adjusted this winter to meet any departure from normal temperatures.

To permit accurate budgeting of individual supplies, the new fuel oil rationing plan will divide the heating season into five periods, OPA announced yesterday, with numerous coupons issued for the specific periods, but useable in advance to meet needs arising from unusually cold spells.

Explaining that the ration coupons must be issued in advance and therefore cannot provide for unusual conditions, OPA added:

"While October 15 is the tentative date for local rationing boards to begin passing upon applications of fuel oil users, the heating season will be regarded as underway on October 1. Any fuel oil on hand on that date or purchased after—(Turn to Page Seven)

POSSIBILITY OF A LANDING IS FORESEEN

High Officer of British Army Broadcasts Warning in French Invasion May be Anticipated

DENOUNCES FREE TALK

London, Sept. 29.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill voiced emphatic disapproval of speculation on the time or place of a second front, as the subject cropped up in the house of commons today and as the BBC broadcast to France that an Allied offensive "is in the making."

Churchill's remarks were provoked by a question from Capt. Peter MacDonald which was based on the assumption that "the period of offensive operations by the United Nations is now approaching."

As parliament met for the first time since Sept. 11, a high officer of the British army broadcast in French that "today more than ever before the possibilities of a British and Allied landing on French soil must be foreseen."

The message followed the pattern of previous BBC broadcasts to France. It told the French that there would be no advance warning of the day or point of attack but that "the offensive of the Allied Nations is in the making."

MacDonald was anxious lest someone with inside information indiscreetly tip off the enemy with too free talk. In response to the member's request for a word of caution, Churchill said:

"I welcome this opportunity of again emphasizing the undesirability of public statements or speculation as to the time and place of future Allied offensive operations even though such statements are based on inference and not, as the suggestion seems to imply, on inside information."

The house's applause was punctuated by the remark which Churchill did not answer "will that be conveyed to Mr. Wendell Willkie?"

Willkie, speaking in Moscow Sunday, urged a second front "at the earliest possible moment which our military leaders will approve."

Churchill, who rarely has been at a loss for words, told commons "I am afraid I have rather exhausted the possibilities of the English language" in denouncing Pierre Laval. He declined to make any further statement on the government's attitude toward Vichy.

He also brushed aside a new suggestion that the RAF bomb Rome.

WORKERS IN LIQUOR STORES RENEW APPEAL

Pittsburgh, Sept. 29.—(P)—The CIO COUNTY & Municipal Workers of America have appealed to Governor Arthur H. James to submit to arbitration their demand for a 20 per cent wage increase for liquor store workers.

Jack Strobel, secretary-treasurer of District 3 executive board of the union, said the telegram called attention to a "serious situation" arising because members are "demanding strike action since they cannot live on their low wages."

"It is the rule, not the exception," he told the house, "It is a condition which has been going on since the armament program started."

"How long," asked Faddis, "are those in power in this administration going to continue to give their blessing to such robbery and oppression of free born American citizens and to permit this open and deliberate sabotage of our defense effort?"

Faddis said conditions at Mendville represented "no isolated instance."

MacArthur's Ground Forces Hammer Japs Back in Owen Stanley Mountain District

Enemy Subs Damaged By U. S. Fliers

Unleashing of Air and Ground Power Coincides With Statement Concerning Conference

PROGRESS BEING MADE

BY JOHN H. WIGGINS
Washington, Sept. 29.—(P)—A determined Allied offensive appeared definitely underway in the far-flung Pacific war theater today causing the Japanese invaders to fall back in New Guinea and inflicting heavy losses on enemy planes and troops in the Solomon and Aleutian Islands.

The unleashing of Allied air and ground power on two of the three strategic Pacific fronts coincided with announcement of a conference of the U. S. navy and air force's high command somewhere at sea. The attacks brought destruction of 49 Japanese planes in the Solomons and Aleutians and damage to five ships in four days of raids.

Taking the offensive for the first time on New Guinea, General MacArthur's ground forces hammered back Japanese troops in the Owen Stanley mountains with an infiltrating and outflanking attack about 32 miles north of Port Moresby.

MacArthur's Australian headquarters announced last night the attacking forces were "making progress" for the first time since the invaders landed at Gona Mission July 21 and began pushing through the heavy, crocodile-infested jungles toward Port Moresby, which, if captured, could serve as a springboard for an assault on Australia.

Meanwhile, Allied air forces continued savage pounding of the Japanese bases and supply lines in New Guinea. These persistent attacks, an army spokesman observed, may have stopped the invaders' progress by smashing vital supply lines.

The aerial assaults on Buna, the enemy's main southern New Guinea base, set supply dumps and huts ablaze. Barges were destroyed by bombs and supply columns strafed. Airdrome dispersal areas, a destroyer and a transport ship were bombed off Buin on Bougainville island in the northern Solomons with unobserved results.

The greatest blow to the Nipponese air forces during the activity commencing Sept. 25 was struck in the Solomons where 42 planes were shot down and three others damaged, the navy department said. Navy and marine corps (Turn to Page Two)

LONGER WORK WEEK FOR MINERS DEBATED

Washington, Sept. 29.—(P)—John L. Lewis said today that members of the United Mine Workers of America would accept a longer work week only if it was proven conclusively that it was "absolutely necessary and essential" to the war effort.

The president of the big coal miners' union made the statement at a conference of labor and mine representatives called by Solid Fuel Coordinator Ickes to consider ways to increase coal production next year.

Lewis added that he thought the meeting called by Ickes was without authority to act on a proposal for increased hours and added "there is no material on this table" to indicate the necessity for increasing the work week beyond the present 35 hours.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 29.—(P)—John A. Witt, 79-year-old Bruston grocer, was found fatally shot today in a rear room of his store shortly after he had opened the establishment for business.

Casualty List of Merchant Marine Contains 2,301 Names

Washington, Sept. 29.—(P)—These will be listed in later announcements.

One name listed was that of Mack Burton Bryan of Randleman, N. C., who was third assistant engineer of the city of Rayville, which was sunk off Australia Nov. 8, 1940. The navy said Bryan "was reported as the first American merchant seaman casualty of the current war."

Otherwise the list dated from Sept. 27, 1941, when the L. C. White was torpedoed and sunk in the south Atlantic. Beginning then enemy air and submarine attacks have sunk or damaged more than 200 American merchant ships.

The navy said that the dead and missing list "includes only those casualties resulting directly from enemy action."

without food and without any previous experience of the tropics or jungles.

Haugland knew little more about where he was than that he was somewhere on one of the largest islands in the world.

His diary covers a period of 32 days, possibly more, for at one point he noted that in his fevered delirium he might have telescoped several days.

The diary ends abruptly Sept. 9, when the last entry tells of finding a path and the first signs of human habitation—the first sign of hope after endless hopeless days.

How Haugland fared in subsequent days and how he came to be in a native village where missionaries found him Sept. 19 is not known and may never be known for he was delirious when found and remained so until his first period of lucidity in a Port Moresby hospital, where he now is recovering.

He emerged from a long period of delirium last night and recognized Larry Lebus, a former Associated Press correspondent who now is a colonel and aide to General MacArthur.

"Tell my mother I've been real sick, but I'm all right," he said.

The route of Haugland's wanderings cannot be plotted from his diary for the reason that the reporter did not know himself.

For reasons of military security, the point on the New Guinea coast where Haugland was taken by missionaries and native bearers, from which he was flown to Port Moresby, cannot be disclosed.

Population Is Increasing

Washington, Sept. 29.—(P.)—The war was given major credit by the census bureau today for a population increase of 1,327,000 in 1941 boosting the nation's estimated population on Jan. 1, to 133,965,000.

The 1941 increase, double the average for the previous ten years, was ascribed by the bureau largely to business prosperity due to war production, anticipation of being drafted, and the return of Americans from other lands because of the war.

Births in 1941 rose to 2,728,000, about 408,000 more than the 10-year average. Deaths during the year totaled 1,442,000, about average.

Women approached parity with men in the nation by sexes, as the ratio of males per 100 females dropped from 100.7 to 100.4.

NEED MORE AIDES

The Red Cross committee for Nurse's Aide Corps announces that there are not sufficient volunteers to start a new class as yet and it is hoped these may be secured at once, since the need for such training is becoming more imperative. Both daytime and evening classes will be arranged if there is a demand for them. Information may be had at Red Cross headquarters, 404 Market street.

CHILD HAS CLOSE CALL

Attention of the Times-Mirror has been called to the carelessness of some motorists driving in the vicinity of the various school buildings in the borough. The complaint was inspired by an incident that occurred in Pennsylvania avenue east at the South street school Monday during the noon hour when a motorist is alleged to have driven through a red light missing a young tot by inches. A woman eyewitness states that it was a miracle that the child escaped.

FIRE ENGINES SCRAPPED

In a window of the Warren National Bank building there appears a picture of the news pictures a number of fire engines that have been scrapped by Griffin, Ga. Warren some weeks ago scrapped its ancient fire engine, the old Rufus P. King. This old engine served a valuable purpose in Warren for many years and on at least two occasions saved the business section of the city. It was also sent to Ludlow, Sheffield, Clarendon and other towns in this vicinity and aided in fighting fires there. At the time the Rufus P. King was scrapped the old fire alarm bell which did duty at the Struthers House for years was also sold. It weighed over 600 pounds and was purchased by the Pennsylvania Stone and Furnace Company. The Rufus P. King provided 5,500 pounds of nickle and other valuable scrap.

Rotary Club Hears Address On Red Cross

At the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club at the Y. W. C. A. on Monday the speaker was C. J. Cray, chairman of the Warren County Chapter of the Red Cross. Mr. Cray spoke on the work of the Red Cross at home and abroad. He described the international organization and told of the work being done for war sufferers and prisoners of war.

The Home Service Department, serving the men in service in connection with their home relations, was considered a one of the most important of the society's activities at the present time. With the shortage of doctors and nurses, the need for Nurses' Aids, students in home nursing, nutrition, and first aid was stressed. The women of the chapter were commended for their magnificent showing in the production of garments and surgical dressings and for their canteen services. It was stated that the Disaster Preparedness Committee was ready to go into immediate action in case of emergency. He hoped that the Blood Donor Service might be available to the community in the near future.

Plans for the combined Roll Call and War Fund Campaign next March were described. In concluding, Mr. Cray stressed the need for the most active cooperation of all members of the chapter during the present war emergency. In the absence of President Leonard Rosenzweig, Vice President John Fenstermacher presided. Announcement of interest to all Rotarians was made by Secretary Paul Braunschweiger to the effect that on Monday, October 12, Thomas J. Prather, governor of the 175th District of Rotary International, which includes 32 Rotary clubs in northwestern Pennsylvania, will visit the local club. Further announcements regarding Mr. Prather's visit will be made later.

Free Classes Trains Groups For War Work

The engineering science and management war training program offered by the Pennsylvania State College, under the sponsorship of the United States office of education, has been organized for Warren and classes will begin Monday, October 26.

The courses are open to men and women who have had a high school education or its equivalent in industrial or practical experience. The program is designed to further the war effort by training needed men and women for jobs engaged in war production. After an industrial and community survey, courses were selected which were considered most beneficial to the people and industries of Warren.

These courses are: 1. Corporation and manufacturing accounting; 2. Chemistry of engineering materials; 3. Industrial drafting practices "A"; 4. Operations inspection.

Warren E. Miller, instructor in the local high school, has been selected administrative head and will be in charge of the Warren center. Mr. Miller has been previously affiliated with Pennsylvania State College extension training programs and is well qualified to assume supervision of the classes.

Registration for classes will be at the high school Thursday and Friday, October 15-16, from 7:00 to 10:00 p. m., with classes opening on the 26th and continuing each Monday and Wednesday for about 16 weeks. There is no charge for classes other than textbooks.

Armistage, chairman of the Warren County USDA War Board, as necessary to insure fair distribution of available equipment and its placement where it will do the most good in wartime farming production.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK COMING

Warren, with other communities throughout the nation will observe Fire Prevention Week from October 4 to 10. And never in our history has fire prevention been of greater importance, for fire is responsible for the complete destruction of vast quantities of materials which are needed for war.

W. E. Mallalieu, general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, recently listed a few of the serious fires that have occurred within the recent past. One fire destroyed a tremendous tonnage of natural rubber. Another destroyed a plant making magnesium powder. Another destroyed the great liner Normandie at a time when it was being converted for Navy use. Another stopped production for a time in the largest refinery of aviation gasoline in the world. Others struck at factories making machines, parts for airplane propellers, aluminum castings for airplane motors, and arms.

Speaking of these disasters, Mr. Mallalieu said: "In most instances fire could have been prevented or at least the destruction reduced, if adequate precautions had been taken in time. Instead, the country was confronted by finished warplanes held at other factories for lack of propellers at a time when men were dying in battle and armies suffering defeat because there was insufficient air protection. It becomes increasingly evident that fire defense aids war offense."

Before Fire Prevention Week, during Fire Prevention Week, and after Fire Prevention Week, all citizens must voluntarily cooperate in a nation-wide campaign to outlaw fire. Every executive, foreman, worker, homemaker, should learn and apply the fundamentals of fire protection. This is one vital phase of the war effort in which all can collaborate. Each fire prevented aids the cause of the democracies.

DAYTIME AIR-RAID DRILL

Pennsylvania's next statewide air-raid drill, says the State Council of Defense, probably will be held during school hours some day in October. The details are not yet completed.

A daylight test during school hours to give officials and pupils a chance to demonstrate their preparedness is eminently in order.

There are two major purposes in holding air-raid drills. One is to make people acquainted with the procedure in case of an emergency, so that there will be a minimum of uncertainty and hysteria. The other is to check up on the community's preparedness. Not until we test a water pipe can we be certain that it does not leak.

Emphasis, to date, has been placed upon nighttime precautions. That is when lights must be extinguished to hide the community from the enemy. But daylight raids are becoming more and more frequent in the war abroad. And in the daytime our population is more concentrated in factories, schools and office buildings.

Daytime precautions should be made with less difficulty than those taken at night. But it is imperative that we test our defenses against a daytime raid, that we train school children, factory workers and business establishments how to proceed in case of an emergency.

WELL-EARNED HONOR

Every person in Warren county may well point with pride to the achievements in the war effort which earned for the O'Connor Machine Company at Sheffield, the distinct honor of being awarded the Army-Navy "E" today. This is another reminder of the important part defense industries in the county are taking in helping to win the war for Uncle Sam and the Allied nations. Our congratulations to you, Mr. O'Connor, and your loyal and industrious workers.

There are hundreds of tons of scrap iron and steel still around farms and homes in the borough and county. Let's get it all—and win the war that much sooner.

The Solomon Islands are in the news again, and don't forget that's a large area where the Japs will not easily be subdued.

Now that the first snow has fallen we may begin to look forward to Indian summer.

"Thanks for the Lift!"

Washington In Wartime

(First In A Series)
By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Life for the fighting man of World War II is no downy couch. He has to be rough, tough and a smart jack of more trades than one. But he can go off to the wars knowing that never in history has Congress taken so many precautions to see that service men (and women) get so much in pay, legal protection, benefits for dependents and assurance of economic security when they come marching home.

Probably everybody knows that the service men's base pay now starts at $50 a month; that with the exception of a few grades in the Australian army, the U. S. soldier is the best paid in the world, receiving more than four times as much as a British soldier; 12 times as much as a Russian; and in the case of a private, 160 times as much as a Jap.

IT HASN'T been so widely publicized that noncommissioned officers and privates get a 20 per cent (and commissioned officers a 10 per cent) bonus for service overseas; that he gets an automatic 5 per cent raise every three years; that if he is a paratrooper, he gets $50 a month bonus; that there are also bonuses for flying soldiers and men in other hazardous branches; that the lowest private is reckoned by the Army to be earning the civilian equivalent of $1,700 a year.

That doesn't take into consideration either what total or partial dependents get. It doesn't consider that 1-cent a mile (on round trip basis) that is deducted from his train fare while on furlough or the cash allowance he gets on his return for rations he didn't eat (42 to 56 cents a day).

The Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Act of 1940 covers a lot. It authorizes the courts to stay execution of judgment and stay (or even vacate) attachments and garnishments against men in the service. It protects against the lapse of certain life insurance policies; against forced payment while in the service of too burdensome income taxes owed at the time of induction.

It won't prevent the eviction of a man's family for nonpayment of rent, but it clears the way for staying that eviction for a while. Under some circumstances, it protects the man in service against sale of his properties for nonpayment of taxes.

BY EXTENDING the statute of limitations on his debts by that length of time which he is in service, it relieves the creditors of being forced to take action on such debts while a man is in service.

In addition to all of that, Congress has provided that men in the service may take out insurance policies from $1,000 to $10,000, in multiples of $500. There is nothing compulsory about it. After a year they may be converted to 20-pay, 30-pay, or ordinary life policies.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Every time it is announced that Kay Kyser intends making a personal appearance with his band at an Army camp, he receives between 500 and 1,000 letters from mothers, wives, and sweethearts, urging him to look up their sons, husbands and fiancés, so that they can shake hands and say hello personally.

Kyser goes all out for pleasing the folks back home, just as he does the camps. He prepares a list of the names given him in these letters, and after the program, these mothers are brought forward and Kay shakes hands with each of them and relays the messages sent them by their ever loving women folk.

DORIS DUDLEY, blonde, actress daughter of a New York drama critic, has a theatrical reputation as being altogether irrepressible. Ina Claire summed Doris up by saying, "She'll be a legend before her time." However, Doris has puzzled the critics by alternately giving magnificent performances and others not so magnificent. Currently, she is appearing in a film to be called "City Without Men," and when she went to Hollywood her employers said they hoped she would forget her screwball-ism. Doris agreed to be a good girl.

In one of the scenes of this film Miss Dudley was to be kissed by Michael Duane, but instead of waiting for Duane she seized the young man and did the embracing herself. The director was angered. "Why do you do that when it is he who is supposed to kiss you?" shouted Sid Salkow.

Miss Dudley lowered her long lashes until they rested lightly on her cheeks. "Can I help it if I'm affectionate?"

ON THE DARK and slushy days that come down on Manhattan, such as today, with the wind whipping and the rain stinging, most people duck their heads and face it scowlingly. Occasionally, however, you run into a real sunny disposition who is actually enjoying the bad weather. Reason: these are hay fever victims. The pollen has been washed away. Temporarily, the sneezes are out of order.

Another point: more and more you see people carrying boxes of cleansing tissues under their arms in lieu of hankies. Hay fever victims find them a boon. They are not what others think. You see them on the avenue or on buses with their boxes of cleansing tissues under their arms any time.

Why not send Benito Collado a post card? The chief of El Chico, who once was a lieutenant of Pancho Villa, is in the Desert Sanitarium, Tucson, Arizona, for a rest. Broadway and Greenwich Village miss the man who has done more for authentic Spanish entertainment in N. Y. than any other nightclub owner.

DEPUTY SHERIFF DIES

Funeral services were held today for Harry Otis Moulle, 63, chief deputy sheriff of Mercer county, who dropped dead from a heart attack in his home. He was a retired employee of the Bell Telephone Company and had become chief aide to Sheriff Alex Elliott two years ago.

I MISSED getting my hair cut this morning on account of the scrap collection.

When I climbed into the barber chair, Ray says to me:

"Sorry, Joe. Ain't got time for you today. We're closing up this morning at ten."

And then I remembered. This was the day the town had agreed to drop everything—and I mean everything—and collect scrap for Uncle Sam.

Yes sir, the drugstore, the corner garage, Sam Abernethy's general store—every place in town except the post office—closed up tight today from 10 to 5.

And you ought to see the result piled up in front of the fire house. One hundred and fifty tons of metal that had been lying around in attics, cellars and back yards of our town since Charlie Jenkins' great-grandfather joined up with the Texas Rangers.

That's almost 200 lbs. of metal for every man, woman and child in our town. Just shows you—when American citizens go out to do a job for Uncle Sam they do it right.

Judge Cunningham and I were talking about it this evening, sitting on the front porch and having a sociable beer together.

We agreed that the way this town went all out to collect scrap was a pretty good illustration of how Democracy works. No need to crack a whip... no need to pass a law... just self-determined folks working hand in hand to get a job done for their own people.

Because from where I sit, that's what we're fighting for—the right to work together—of our own accord. To do the job because we want to, not because somebody tells us to. And when the job's done, to relax as we see fit.

And the Judge agreed. He pointed out that one of the things that helps folks get together is just what we're doing now.

It's great, after a good day's work, to be able to have a chat and a glass of beer if you want to.

BY GAYLE TALBOT
St. Louis, Sept. 29.—(P)—St. Louis remained calm and collected about the impending World Series as its Cardinals took their final workout today and the renowned Yankees closed in from the east. Unless one read the newspapers, there was nothing to indicate that the two flag winners were due to start belting each other tomorrow. There were no banners; no hoarse talk in hotel lobbies about "our Cards." The so-called World Series atmosphere of other years appeared to have taken a leave of absence.

The hotels were choked, and it took both a reservation and a willingness to argue to get any sort of a room. But they say that is a normal condition these days. The local explanation of the seeming apathy is that the town wore itself out rooting the Cardinals in their amazing drive to the pennant. The fans needed a rest before taking up the big assault on the Yankees. All reserved seats to the first two games here were sold a week ago.

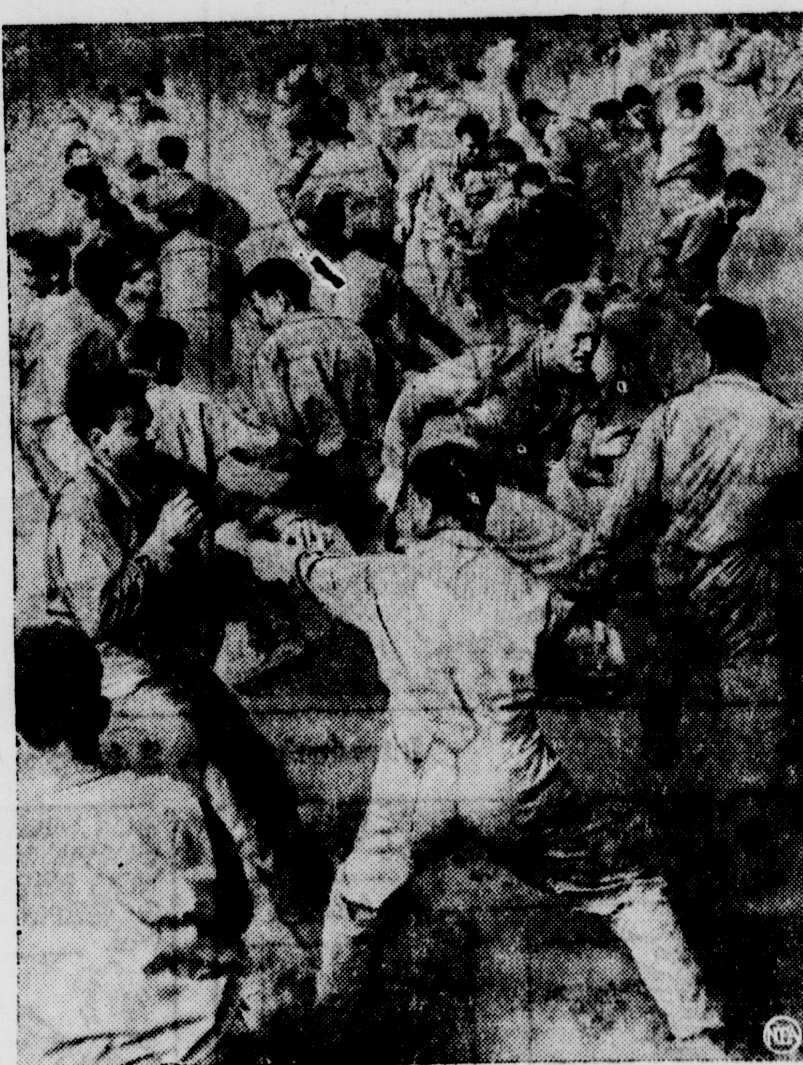

The Yanks—not riding a special train this time, but occupying uppers and lowers like everybody else—were due shortly before dark tonight, too late for a workout. Shouting and carrying on merrily have all season the flamboyant Red Birds held a long practice session yesterday, then attended a barn dance in their honor last night and were scheduled to hold another workout today. It was obvious that Manager Billy Southworth meant to keep his scrapping youngsters at razor-edge. He didn't want them to relax and start thinking too much about the series.

As a matter of fact, the Cards still are in a happy daze about capturing the pennant, and the full impact of the series probably will not strike them until about 1 p. m. tomorrow, when the Yankees start hitting practice drives into the bleachers and generally trying out sportsman's park for size. Perhaps the most important development of the past 24 hours was Manager Southworth's more-or-less announced intention to start Johnny Beazley, his 23-year-old rookie pitching start, in the second game against the Yankees. At least, he said he "would like" to start Beazley in this second heat. This is the first time since 1904, lifting, as managers usually lean toward their experienced flingers in a World Series and it had been assumed by everybody, including the Yankees, that Lethander Max Lanier would follow Mort Cooper to the hill for the Cards. Cooper is, of course, a cinch to face the Yanks in the opener, and to pitch three times if the series goes seven games.

Johnson Sore At Athletics

Philadelphia, Sept. 29.—(P)—There may be a quarrel brewing between venerable Connie Mack and the Philadelphia Athletics and his highest paid player, Outfielder Bob Johnson, but Mack says there's no question about who's going to win. Johnson, arriving at his Tacoma, Wash., home yesterday, told newsmen he had worked his last game with the A's, explaining that he didn't care to play with "a team so poor." He wouldn't comment on reports he was about to be sold to the Boston Red Sox. Told of Johnson's statements, the 79-year-old Athletics boss commented, "he won't be sold and if he doesn't play with us next year, he won't play with any team. I thought we paid him more than he was worth this year, and he didn't give as much help to the younger players as he might have."

LOBERT SORRY SEASON HAS BEEN CONCLUDED

Philadelphia, Sept. 29.—(P)—The Phils lost 100 games this year and finished 62½ games behind the pennant-winning St. Louis Cardinals—but Manager Hans Lohrert is sorry the season has ended. "Sure we won only 42 games," the 60-year-old veteran smiled, "but I wish the season was just getting underway. That's how much I like baseball. It's in my blood."

Series Notes

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 29.—(P)—A sellout of all reserved seats for World's Series games starting at Sportsman's Park tomorrow sent scalpers prices skyrocketing today with "brokers" asking as much as $50 for a $6.90 box seat and $20 for $5.75 reserve seats. The scalpers or "ticket brokers" are required under federal law to register with the collector of internal revenue and must pay the government taxes of 11 percent of the excess over the established price of the tickets. They also are required to obtain a $100 license from the city.

Five "brokers," two from Philadelphia, one from New York, and one from Chicago, and one from St. Louis have registered. As St. Louis prepared for its sixth World's Series in 17 years, the ticket problem became the perplexing subject. All of the 22,879 reserved seats and 3,168 box seats were quickly sold and the ticketless fan faces the problem of raising early and standing in a long line in an effort to obtain one of the 10,000 tickets that will go on sale at 7 a. m. at Sportsman's Park the day of each game. There will be about 2,000 tickets that entitled purchasers only to standing room.

Sid Keener, in charge of press arrangements, said today that for the first time in years baseball writers from Pacific coast Metropolitan dailies would be missing, undoubtedly because of the war transportation problems. The most western points from which visiting writers are coming are Denver and Pueblo, Colo. Havana, Mexico City and Montreal, however, will be represented.

There will be 350 writers, plus telegraphers, crammed into the regular press box and the emergency one built in the middle section of the upper grand stand.

Annapolis, Md.—Perhaps it was the 3 to 0 victory over Navy which rattled Coach Carl Voyles of William & Mary. Asked after the contest which Middle player impressed him the most, Voyles replied that "Cameron did some swell passing."

Sportingly Speaking

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

New York, Sept. 29.—Now it is obvious that all they had to do to get Sgt. Joe Louis and Pvt. Billy Conn to fight for Army Emergency Relief for nothing was to call the whole thing off. When Secretary of War Stimson did that, Mike Jacobs broke out in such a sudden rash of patriotism that he promptly announced he was perfectly willing to wait for the $94,305 which he says he has coming from champion and challenger.

John Roxborough, one of Sergeant Louis' managers, was no longer concerned about the $41,146 which he claims the non-commissioned officer owes him. Trouble was that Promoter Jacobs realized too late that the nation is at war and that he was dealing with people of much larger stature than the members of the New York Boxing Commission and the members of Jacobs Beach. Not even John Kiernan, the answer man of "Information Please," could satisfactorily explain why a fight promoter and manager should reap $135,451 from a production announced and advertised as being a 100 per cent war benefit. The show easily might have turned over as much as $700,000 to AER.

It is regrettable that it wasn't in bigger hands. Eddie Arcaro, one of the great jockeys, had his license revoked for rough riding at Aqueduct. It is the first time in many years that a boy had his license taken away from him for rough riding alone. Usually there are other implications, but the only charge against Arcaro was that he went too far out of his way in an effort to win a race or bet.

There has been altogether too much rodeo work on New York tracks this year. The little men simply had to be pulled up. Riding a thoroughbred is a dangerous game when a race is truly and fairly won.

There is no sense in running further risk of having someone killed. Billy Southworth said the St. Louis Cardinals did not expect any help from others, and would prove that they didn't need it. The Red Birds didn't. They won the National League pennant like a real, good club should win it—by themselves.

The blocks in the red blazers may not win the World Series, but the Yankees will know they have been on the firing line—all the way along the route.

High Honors Won By Local Men at Shoot

John H. Schuler and Paul Yagge attended a Sunday pistol shoot, held at the Canton, Ohio, Pistol Club range and returned home with high honors. John Schuler was high-gun in the .22 caliber National match course and the .22 caliber aggregate, which entitled him to have his name engraved on the trophies awarded and will hold possession of them until the next Canton shoot. The winner gaining permanent control after three years. Schuler also brought home a trophy awarded for high-gun in the .22 caliber Rapid Fire Course, in addition to placing high in the Sharpshooter class in the 50-yard slow fire and the .38 caliber National Match Course, for which he received plaques. His partner, Paul Yagge, brought home four plaques, being high-gun in the marksman class, in each of the following: the .22 caliber slow fire 50-yard event; the .22 caliber rapid-fire; the .22 caliber aggregate; and the .38 caliber National Match Course. He also placed second high and received medals in the marksman class in the .22 caliber timed-fire and the .22 caliber National Course, losing first place by one and two points respectively.

There were approximately 40 top notch shooters present and the competition was keen and the local shooters deserve considerable credit in coping top honors.

A Promise for Tomorrow

BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

Chapter 12
Telling Dawn

"LET'S drop by Kelland's and see if there is anyone at home," Bart suggested as they drove back into the shaded outskirts of Santa Felice. "Tip them off about their strange visitor."

"All right," Julie agreed, not at all sure that things were right. Or that she could command the tact to set them straight again. She could only hope it was all a big mistake, that some simple explanation would solve everything.

The answer was simple enough, but it didn't solve anything. Dawn herself answered the door.

"Hello darlings! But how marvelous of you to come." She greeted them as warmly as if it had been weeks instead of hours since she'd seen them last. "I've had a ghastly day. And that horrible fire last night. I couldn't sleep and neither could father. He was terribly restless. I dashed out finally and got some bromides for him. He'd run out of them. And it was so nerve-racking, those sirens and all. Didn't you think so, Julie?"

She'd taken their way into the library, motioned them into chairs, rung for Jarvis, all without stopping for breath.

"Yes, it was bad," Julie said quickly. "I called to see you."

"Jarvis said you did, darling," Dawn interrupted instantly, her lovely lips curved into a sweet little smile. "I was so sorry not to have been here. I went for a long walk—just to clear my head after my hectic night waiting on father. And then I came home so exhausted, I've been in bed all day."

Jarvis appeared in the door then. "Yes, Miss Dawn?"

"Scotch and soda, please, Jarvis. Scotch is your drink, isn't it, Bart?" She smiled again, that lovely, gently pleading little gesture that went straight to a man's heart.

Julie smiled too, but inwardly. If Dawn denied, too, the presence of that stranger in the mountain cabin, then the answer was perfectly plain. A little romantic affair that was to be kept completely off the record.

"Sure, but I'm not the drinking man your mysterious guest at the cabin is!" Bart said, with mocking gravity.

"How Terrible!" Dawn's amazement looked absolutely genuine. "My—what?"

"Somebody who wears size 12 boots and drinks his whisky neat is draping his wet raincoats on your chair lounge. And probably taking shots on your father's game preserve. Any idea who it might be?"

"Why—how terrible. Some poacher of course. We haven't been near the cabin since last fall." Quickly, she turned to Julie. "Isn't that ghastly, darling. Could you tell who it was? Did you see him?"

"No. Someone passed us at the turn-out but he was driving so fast we couldn't see who it was." For a fraction of an instant, Julie fancied she saw relief in Dawn's eyes. But even as she thought it, the expression vanished and Dawn was her wide-eyed charming self again.

"I'll have to tell Dad," Dawn chattered on. "Still, that makes him so furious—things like that. Maybe I'd better not. I'll have one of his attorneys take care of it. Dad would be too upset. And in his condition, you won't say anything to him—or to anyone, will you?" She smiled sweetly at Bart and then at Julie. "If it got back to Dad, he'd be undone. And he's really doing so much better now I'd hate to have a set-back. You won't say anything, will you?"

If Your Breath Is Not Sweet

BY PAUL BRAUNSCHWEIGER of the Mullen Drug Co.

If halitosis has become a problem to you, and worse still, to your friends, by all means see your dentist. When you know that your mouth is healthy and if the condition remains, then a visit to your doctor is imperative.

Any one of several factors may contribute to bad breath, among them a faulty digestion, a sinus condition, infected tonsils, lung disease, and any one of these call for medical diagnosis and treatment. Bad breath, like a headache, may indicate something serious. It is well to know where the trouble lies.
